

"AS OTHERS SEE US."

From every Department of the Government, come reports of deficiencies in necessary appropriations and incompetency and neglected work through such deficiency. We suggest a cartoon for The Judge. A bag of gold suspended marked "surplus $54,000,000" with Uncle Sam standing before it wringing his hands and exclaiming, "What shall I do with it?" a railing around Uncle Sam made out of "Red Tape" and "False Economy" and outside this rail a multitude presenting due and unpaid bills and demanding payment. This multitude would be composed of old soldiers with pension bills, poor settlers with patents for their lands unsigned, faithful officers with bills long overdue, etc., and in the background should be rivers with steamers on snags; Federal officers living in rented adobe huts; cities unprotected by a single modern gun; commerce in the last stages of Bright's disease; millions of children stretching out helpless arms towards a spelling-book beyond their reach, foreign consuls and ministers levying blackmail upon ship owners because their salaries will not support them; the claims of States approved and marked "not paid for want of funds," and with the rest the American Navy represented by the skeleton of a ship, without armor, engines or guns, with a board nailed on a post near, marked "work suspended for want of funds."

Such a cartoon would give an excellent idea of the real situation. It would show the picture which we, the Great Republic, make before the world, and it is a picture which ought to bring blushes to the cheeks of all Americans, because it would simply portray a lamentable statement of facts.—Salt Lake Tribune.

Nevada's Climate vs. Divorce Proceedings.

The Genoa Courier has the following:

We have the climate, and after a little we shall have the crowd, and don't you forget it! A few weeks ago a young married lady in Nebraska heard of our wonderful climate and concluded to test its qualities. With her infant child she came direct to Carson Valley, well knowing that we had more climate, to the square foot than any other portion of the State. Her husband, whose name is Christian Beyer, was not to sit quietly and mope in such an emergency, for he loved his wife better than his life, and his child better than either. He immediately started in pursuit of his truant wife, and after many days, found her in the small town of Gardnerville, when he immediately commenced to negotiate for her return to Nebraska. Meeting with no success, he seized the child and left for Carson, supposing that his wife would follow rather than be separated from her child. But instead of following her husband, she started a divorce suit, which brought her husband back to Gardnerville, where a reconciliation was attempted, and the parties finally came to Genoa to have papers drawn up and make an amicable settlement concerning the custody of their child, and their property rights. Mrs. Beyer was determined to live in Carson Valley, and about the time the papers were completed, she succeeded in convincing her better half that our beautiful valley was far superior to their former home, in climate, soil, and everything that tends to make life enjoyable; and we understand that Mr. Beyer concluded to sell his property in Nebraska and settle in Carson Valley. Mrs. Beyer at once dismissed her action—for all she wanted was to live here—and she gained her point. So you see, our climate will tell and people sniff it from afar.

Two young men of Chico were out driving Wednesday night. They both turned a corner from opposite directions at the same time, and the shaft of one of the buggies penetrated the heart of the horse with which it collided, killing the horse instantly.
